Varicose Ruins the Lives of Thousands of Men.

That's what's dragging your life out. That's what is making you so tired, so listless and stupid. That's what is robbing you of your strength, your nerve force, your ambition. It is draining the very sap out of your body and will make a wreck of you in time. Cure it now before it goes too far on you.

I Guarantee a Cure

I have cured thousands after the knife had failed. Don't be cut and ruined. Let me cure you naturally. My Electric Belt works directly upon the swollen veins by a special attachment. It removes the dead blood and gives vigorous circulation. It is a certain cure.

Carson City, Nev.

DR. McLAUGHLIN—Dear Sir: I can truthfully state that I have not felt the least bit of pain since I commenced your treatment, and the varicose is, to all appearances, cured. I think the Belt a wonder, and its convenience of application remarkable. I gladly recommend the treatment to all sufferers.

WM. DECKER, JR.

It will cure you, too. Come to me now, and it will be the happiest day of your life. If you can't call, send for my book. It will tell you if you are afflicted. Consultation free.

HUNTING THE EGRET.

James Barton, a professional egret hunter, has just returned from a trip to the Tehuantepec Isthmus, where he has been several months hunting the little egret for its plumes. He has been in this business for the past ten years, hunting in the swamps of Louisiana, Florida and southern Mexico. During that time he has gathered something like 5,000 plumes of the first class, which bring about $80 a pound. He says: "The little egret is a member of the heron family, white in color and a native of the Western Continent. The plumes, which are of great value, are attached to the shoulder of the bird and are three in number, so a great many birds have to be killed."

Mr. Barton worked among the marshes on the Trinidad River on the isthmus. He says all kinds of animals abound, both on the ridge and in the swamps, and during the night the howls of tigers and the buzzing of tropical insects recall India. By building blinds and getting behind them he was able to bag the egrets that feed in the little isthmian lakes and swamps. The most valuable specimen he procured outside of his regular profession was a tapir, along one of the small tributaries which run into the Trinidad River, among the forests that are all alive with monkeys and birds of gorgeous plumage.

He also killed several deer and other small game, as well as a large jaguar and several ocelots. The above will give an idea of the tropical conditions that prevail among the isthmian swamps.—Los Angeles Times.

AUTOS, WELL DRESSED WOMEN.

Judge H. G. Drake, formerly a prominent Democratic politician and attorney of Defiance, Ohio, but now a bank president and capitalist of Muskogee, I. T., was at the Grand yesterday.

"The people of the Territory are more interested in becoming a State of the United States now than anything else. We have no laws in the whole Territory with the exception of municipal laws, and are controlled by a few United States Marshals. We have a population ranging between 500,000 and 600,000, and in proportion to size have as wealthy a country as can be found in the United States. We want to become a State, and at our last election elected a man to go to Washington to petition the lower branch of Congress to do something for us in the way of laws. We do not want to be admitted to statehood with Oklahoma, because our population is large enough for us to become a State ourselves, and we have even discussed the name to be given the State in the event it is admitted. I will not be surprised to see it named 'Jefferson,' after President Jefferson, as a great majority of the people are Democrats, and thousands of them came from the Southern States."

"Muskogee is one of the most prosperous cities in the Southwest. We have a population of about 12,500, and have seven banks, and their deposits aggregate more than $2,000,000. We have more automobiles than any other city of our size in the States; have more handsomely dressed women than any other city of similar size. In fact, we have everything but government, which we must have."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

An isthmus: Barnes—"Howes and I have been arguing about the meaning of the word 'isthmus.' He says it means a neck of land separating two bodies of water, and I hold that it is a strip of land connecting two continents. Now, what do you say?" Shedd—"I say that neither of you is right. An isthmus is a thing that connects conspiracies and revolutions and separates governments."—Boston Transcript.

Innocent A. Broad—"Mother, the 'Scarlet Varlet' must be a fine show. It broke the records for attendance in New York, so we ought to go and see it." Mrs. Broad—"Daughter, such successful shows can not be such that a young girl ought to see."—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

The signs failed: Going into a tavern two thirsty souls were greatly disconcerted to see in every room the sign "No liquor to be sold or drunk on these premises." "It's a great comfort to know that all signs fail in a dry time," was the comment of one of them, an optimist.—Ex.

"We are old friends, this bottle and I. We have known each other for over sixty years. When a boy I was always taking cold, but a few doses of this medicine would at once set me right. When a young man I had a weak throat and weak lungs. My friends feared some lung trouble, but greatly strengthened my throat, cleared up my voice, and took away the tendency for every cold to go to my lungs. Last year I had a bad attack of la grippe. The only medicine I took was from this bottle, and I came out all right. I know it's good, too, for asthma, bronchitis, pneumonia, croup. There are many substitutes and imitations. Beware of them! Be sure you get Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

The Real Thing

IN THIS AGE of imitation Everything in all creation Is inclined to substitution: They sell you Jersey butter That never saw a cow, There's lots in a bag of flour That never felt the plow; They take all kinds of dried-up leaves And brand the package "tea," They sell you high-grade Java That never crossed the sea; They sell you pretty nummies That are simply made of wood, They do the same with everything— And say "It's just as good." So if you want the genuine, The kind that never grows faint, That'll stick like glue and stop leaks too, GET ELASTIC CARBON PAINT.

It is the antidote for small leaks. For large leaks we have good shingles and corrugated iron.
